

Question #1: My dad passed on 11/29/05 and my mom on 2/24/08, I am very close to both of them and was their caregiver during their illnesses. Since my mom's death I have been pushed to greater spirituality and have attended a lot of workshops, completed many energy trainings including Reiki and am studying Shamanism. During a recent journey I received a message from my father that I wouldn't "see" him in his earthly form anymore because he had transitioned to a Light Being. I feel there is a different path I should be on than the career I am currently in and feel I am being guided in that direction by my parents and others but don't have a clear direction for that path yet. I also feel like I am becoming clairaudient. Do the Light Beings have any guidance for me?

Light Beings: Yes, first we would like to say that you need to give yourself time. It is not yet the time for you to move away from what you're presently doing in your life's work, but begin to see where your change of direction and your new spiritual interests can be used in the position you are presently in, in some ways, and then as you begin to move more and more into the spiritual realm of your life, you will see clearly which direction you should go in. But right now you still have some time needed for healing. You also have some completion, yet, in the job you're presently in. So do not get too anxious to make a change because there is quite a bit of learning for you yet before you'll know exactly how you're going to move forward. And you'll take some of the experiences and the abilities from your present work into some work you may have the opportunity to be involved in that will be of a more spiritual nature. But it is too early yet for us to even speak to you about a definite direction. Continue to do workshops that appeal to you, but carefully pick your teachers. Be sure they are not coming from an ego base, because you have taken one or two classes where you have found that you did not resonate completely, and the reason was the leaders of those classes or workshops were coming from a very solid ego base, and that is not something that you are going to resonate to in the near future. So pick your teachers carefully.

Also, we would like to say to you that you are going to feel both parents and their energy, but perhaps not as your father had said, see them in the physical, but you may hear them. You are correct that you are becoming, not necessarily, clairaudient for everything or everyone. But there may be times when you will get messages very clearly. And those messages you need to listen to carefully. The way to know if it is your mind or your ego speaking, or your thought processes interfering, or it is truly a message will be how easily the message flows. There will be no need for editing if you write it down. It will come out very clearly and easily the first time. And it will resonate with you as the truth. That is how you will know. The doubt will not be there.

Q2: I feel the Light Beings are contacting me. This is how I found your web site. Would you please ask them what it is I am supposed to do?

LBs: You are not at this point in time supposed to do anything in particular. What you are supposed to be listening to is that inner voice. And you are right. You have had guides for your entire life as everyone does. But you're now beginning to make contact with some of those guides, and they are part of the Light Being Group. And so it would be very much to your benefit for you to be open to opportunities that will expose you more to the teachings of the spiritual masters that are connected with Light Beings. And it would be more to your benefit for you to do some journaling with your own thoughts more or less set aside, and simply allow the thoughts to flow so that your soul can be much clearer in speaking to you, because at present you tend to be questioning constantly instead of listening, because the answers are there for you. So at present we would say stop looking for what you are supposed to do, but look around you and see how you can interact with others in such a way that the light comes through you and they will begin to sense that you are speaking from a different level; the people that you are associating with will begin to see a change in you, that of being more solid, more grounded. Many times one thinks to become spiritual or to get on the spiritual path is to become more of the light in such a way that you forget that you have a physical body and need to be grounded to be able to accomplish anything on the earth plane. So that will be, for the next few months, your greatest chore, to recognize that to be in the earth body and to live also of the light is quite a challenge if one is not willing to listen to spirit within. So all you really need to do now for the next few months is to be still and listen, and to use your abilities to study and experience the light and see how you can use it in your day to day life. And then within a few months you'll begin to get a much clearer path, a much clearer direction.

Q3: My husband and I were out front of our house a few days ago, it was around 10pm and we saw something very unusual, in fact we have never seen anything like it before. The sky was clear except that there was an area of what looked like tiny clouds and behind those clouds or IN them there were these "light beings" is the only way to describe it, dancing and floating in and out around the clouds like they were playing some kind of game with each other. There must have been 20 or more of them. This went on for about 5 to 10 minutes and my husband decided to go and get my neighbor from across the street to look at this. As soon as my husband turned his back I witnessed this small spot of orange/yellow streak across the sky where these beings were. I'm talking it was moving across, not up and down or going down. When my husband came back with my neighbor they were all gone. As soon as my neighbor came, he may have seen one or two but they had all left.

Do you, would you know of anyone who may be able to tell us what this was? My husband and I have been doing a lot of research on the 2012 situation and have been reading books by Rand, PhD. and James J. Hurtak, and I don't know if this has any connection.

LBs: We must be careful in how we answer you on this because we do not want to mislead you and have you believing what you saw was more than it was. But you had the opportunity to see these, as you call them, beings of light, that are many times---it's difficult to explain---many times the – essence, might be the best word to use – of those beings that are not of your earth plane -and we hesitate to call them ETs, as you would normally call such an entity - but they are neither of the earth plane or of any of the galaxies that you are presently aware of in your science. And it was more of a 'shadow' of the essence as opposed to the actual being that you were seeing. And you could not see all of what was connected to that experience. Where others might see the vehicle that was used, you were seeing more of the entity. And the reason they disappeared when your neighbor came was because your neighbor was not open to such an experience, where you and your husband because of some of your previous readings and some of your belief systems have opened yourselves to see and experience things that others may never recognize. So do not be surprised if once again you have such an experience, not necessarily of just the light, but you may see the shadows or the actual entities in a future time if you are open to it.

Q4: I have been blessed and protected by divine light all my life. I know my travail has been for my good and I am grateful. I look forward to growing in light. I seek wisdom about loving detachment, non-judgment, and standing for something good in the presence of a challenging behavior. I feel my gifts are to love and communicate love. I have opportunities to publish and actualize some of the writings and activities I have been inspired to create.

Currently, two of the individuals who would allow me to do some of this, I think, could be associated with sexually predatory behavior. Both are unrelated to each other, and one is the husband of a divine spirit-filled woman. Neither husband nor wife knows I know he has declared he is recovered from this behavior. The other person I am beginning conversations about my concerns with what I suspect. Both partnering sources want me to assist in promoting their businesses, and the businesses are of good purpose.

I can tell this is a time in my life in the universe to express even more divine truth and light to the world. Everything seems to open. But I find that the door through which I enter has people with issues that cause me to pray about my reaction to their lives or recovered lives.

I think part of my divine blueprint is to overcome issues associated with this kind of behavior. In each person I can see the heart of divine love beating. I also understand that although love exists and good is achieved does not mean that they may not choose to discontinue harmful life behaviors. I have worked in abuse, HIV, and other harmful social ills, and seen and facilitated recovering behavior.

I do not know if I am in a position to do divine work through them despite my judgment about their lives, or if my perception of their wrestling of spirit is a warning signal that I am to heed. I know we all are on our evolutionary spiritual paths.

Please guide me how to know if I am dealing with overcoming judgment of others or if I am being tested to stand on principles and against facilitating harmful behavior.

Thank you for your love.

LBs: You are at a major, major crossroads in your life. And one of the things you are going to need to look at very, very carefully are the mirrors. And if you are aware that there are many kinds of mirrors that are teachers, you will understand that one of the mirrors is that of judgment. And so, yes, you are being tested, so to speak, in seeing someone's behavior and recognizing it is not appropriate or has not been in the past. And now you must make a decision if you want to be a part of that particular scenario, and is it going to be worth, to you, what will be needed to stand in your own truth.

So we would suggest that every time you ask a question, put your hands on your solar plexus and when you ask if this person is "someone I should work with", feel....do you feel expanded, or do you feel contracted? And if there is a contraction, you may want to look very carefully at what you might be walking into. We are not saying that you should not become involved with one who has in the past had some negative ways of being, or ways of being that are not beneficial to themselves or to the planet, but we are saying you need to be very clear about why you would be entering into such a relationship. As you pointed out, you have spent some of your lifetime work with those that have had such issues, and perhaps you need to look at why you would draw those kinds of entities into your field yet again, when it looks like an opportunity to move forward in your own work.

So, what we're saying in a very concise way is you need to be careful at this point in your life in your decision making and about who you are going to spend your time and efforts with, and if you are not sure of their pure intent, it may do you well to walk away.

The only other thing we would say is you also need to be very clear about your intent. It also must be of a pure nature for success to be able to be a part of your future.

Q5: Why have I seen so many Monarch butterflies, and on so many occasions flying in front of me while I am in the cab of my truck, and never at any other time?

LBs: You have been afraid your entire life to allow happiness to be a true part of your existence. You've always felt that either you did not deserve it, or it did not come to you, or it was unattainable, or be short lasting. But you always added some kind of block to keep you from experiencing happiness.

And you are now at a point in your life where you can make some choices that will give you the kind of contentment that you've always desired but never brought into your existence. And the butterfly is that of freedom, that of beauty, and that of happiness. And when we say happiness, we're talking about that inner joy that gives one the ability to be not only grounded on the planet, but in contact with that greater part of their own essence. That's what true happiness is about, not an external success of one thing or another. And so it is simply to remind you, especially in your job, that that is not permanent, and that you are capable of moving forward and finding a way of bringing in your financial income that will give you pleasure and give you competence, and give you pride in what you do. So it is more of a reminder and especially happens when you are in your truck on the job, because you're not presently happy with what you're doing. And it's telling you to be aware of the capability of metamorphosing into something greater, into something more pleasurable. Look around, be open, and do not be afraid to make a move forward into something that would use your abilities. You have many and it would be very beneficial to you to simply list all the things that you know you are good at and it may really surprise you, but it also may lead you into understanding the kinds of positions that would be beneficial to you.

Q6: Is there anything you'd like to say to the readers in general at this time?

LBs: The thing that is on everyone's mind at this time, not only in your country, but globally, is the economic status of your world. And it has not been something that has happened overnight. It has actually been deteriorating with the large corporations and the financial institutions for the last 12 to 15 years, and it has gradually, gradually crumbled at the foundation; and many knew, [those] who were the leaders, and who had the capability of making some changes. They knew what could happen, but in their desire to remain at the top, and to not be the bearer of bad news, they chose to close their eyes to the corruption, to the greed, and to the lack of caring for the long-term stability of the economy, and in doing so have created a royal mess for the entire globe.

But it is not all bad. It is going to give many the opportunity to recognize that their priorities have been totally misplaced and that it is now time for community to become much more important. There will be the opportunity for groups to form that will use the bartering programs to their advantage. Where in the community there will be certain abilities and talents that it can be exchanged for other abilities and talents. And it will balance itself in a beautiful way as well as creating a bond between those who have not really thought about the advantages of working in community. So that is one of the greatest advantages that is going to happen. The second advantage is that of scaling down, so to speak, in the individual's life, and in so doing, being more aware of waste, of not ignoring what is good for the ecological life on the planet, and becoming much more aware of ways to save the planet as opposed to continually consuming, never looking at the consequences. So there will be a much, much needed balance that has not been there for many years. And in that, trying to achieve a better balance, the family unit will become stronger as well as groups that have similar belief systems, and there will be a much broader understanding of the needs around the globe that have been thus ignored. So the economic upheaval that you are experiencing at present is not going to be a pleasant quick fix, but there can be many, many benefits to the downturn if one will simply make the life adjustment that will accommodate needing less, being more aware of the environment and bringing themselves closer to not only their family unit, but to their community.

© 2008 Joyce B. Cary. All rights reserved, except this format of the Light Beings' reading 10-26-08 may be reprinted from <http://www.askthelightsbeings.com> for personal use or sharing so long as this notice is attached. Permission is needed for any other reproduction.